Renew or Replace Green Card

Renew or Replace Green Card ^[1]

Submitted by Chief Editor on Jun 16th 2011

Overview

A permanent resident card or green card (USCIS Form I-551) is proof of your permanent resident status in the United States. It also serves as a valid identification document and proof that you are eligible to live and work in the United States. Although some, green cards contain no expiration date, most are valid for 10 years. If you have been granted conditional permanent resident status, the card is valid for 2 years.

It is important to keep your card up-to-date. Without a valid card, it may be difficult for you to prove that you are a permanent resident, and this could also affect your ability to travel or to prove your eligibility to work in the United States.

When do I need to renew my Permanent Resident Card?

You should renew your green card if you were issued a card valid for 10 years that has either expired or will expire within the next 6 months.

If your Green card is valid for only 2 years, you are a conditional resident. You will need to file a petition to remove the conditions of your residence before the card expires. You may file this petition 90 days before your conditional green card expires. If your petition is approved, you will be sent a new Green card valid for 10 years. You do not need to file Form I-90. This is discussed below.

If your card does not have any expiration date on the front, then you have a very old version. Most old versions are no longer valid. Even if your card does not have an expiration date on it, we recommend you apply to renew it.

When do I need to replace my Permanent Resident Card?

Apply to replace your Green card if any information on your card needs to be changed, or if your card has been lost, stolen, or damaged.

Also, if you became a permanent resident before you turned 14 years old, you are required to replace your card when you become 14 years old.

What application do I file to replace or renew my Permanent Resident Card?

To apply to renew or replace your card, use Form I-90, Application to Replace Green card. The Form I-90 is available on www.uscis.gov [2].

How do I file the I-90 to renew or replace my Permanent Resident Card?

Please refer to the USCIS website under Immigration Forms, I-90, for specific filing instructions, and then complete the form. You can also e-file your I-90 on USCIS website at www.uscis.gov [2].

How do I remove conditions on my 2-year conditional Permanent Resident Card?

Do not use Form I-90 if you are a conditional resident and your status is expiring. If you are a permanent resident who was granted conditional permanent resident status, you are required to file a petition to remove those conditions within 90 days of your card expiring.

If your conditional status was based on a marriage, file Form I-751, Petition to Remove Conditions on Residence.

If your conditional status was based on being an investor or entrepreneur, file Form I-829, Petition by Entrepreneur to Remove Conditions on Permanent Resident Status.

If you do not file the petition to remove the conditions before your card expires, you may lose your permanent resident status. Form I-751 and Form I-829 are available on USCIS website at www.uscis.gov [3]. Instructions for the forms will give you more details. For additional questions, please contact USCIS Customer Service at 1-800- 375-5283.

Lockbox Filing Tips

General Tips:

- Read and follow all form instructions for fees, filing location, and eligibility requirements.
- If hand writing your application, ensure all entries are neat and legible.
- When entering information on your application or petition, be sure to keep your information within the box or space provided.
- Use black or blue ink only. Do NOT use highlighters or red ink on your application as they may make your materials undetectable when scanned.
- Ensure that you are using the correct edition of the form. The correct, most current edition of every USCIS form is always available for FREE download on this website.
- Ensure that printed forms do not have the data fields grayed out. Information entered into grayed-out data fields will not be detected by the machine scanners.
- Ensure that you provide all required supporting documentation and evidence.
- Ensure that the supporting documents written in a language other than English are accompanied by an English translation.
- Be sure to sign your application.
- Be sure that you mail all pages of the application.
- If you must change your form, we recommend that you begin with a new form, rather than trying to white out information. USCIS scanners may see through the white correction tape or fluid and make your form incorrect, possibly leading to processing delays or rejection.

Fees

- Checks must be made payable to U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Read the form instructions for additional details.
- We suggest that you use a separate check or money order for each application in the package and biometric fees. If a single check is submitted for multiple applications and one of the applications must be rejected, then all applications will be rejected. The Lockbox can not accept overpayment and make partial refunds.
- Note that the requirement for biometrics fees varies depending upon your age and the benefit for which you are applying. Ensure the biometric fees submitted are correct based upon age and benefit.

Customer Service
